Flower pots resting unguarded upon the window sills of North Main street dwelling apartments nearly proved fatal missiles to a young lad walking along the street one day this week. Four good-sized cans filled with earth dropped from a fourth-story window after the efforts of a small child had easily removed the objects from their positions. Had the young boy been standing in his tracks a few seconds before possibly much more would have been said about the incident.

Miss Keeler of Burlington Pleased Audience Last Evening.

Fairy tales are not soon forgotten. Neither can Miss Marian Keeler, acclaimed to be "Vermont's Galli-Curi," be soon forgotten by those who were privileged to hear her. Fairy-like, she just sang and smiled her way into the hearts of an appreciative, but rather small, gathering of lovers of good music in city hall, Montpelier, last evening. The audience did not fail to recognize the splendid program and it greeted the participants fittingly.

Miss Marian, a diminutive prima donna, just 15 years of age—sang with the ease and finesse of an artist of years. Her stature did not interfere in any way with the volume of her voice, which rolled out apparently with little effort and at times as soft as a lullaby. Every syllable, every note and every expression stood out prominently in all her work. Her diction was clear, her tones perfect and her charming personality proved to be valuable assets that could not be overlooked. In difficult arias or in favorite song numbers she was equally as masterful and enjoyable. Perhaps the most difficult selection attempted by her was the Shadow song from "Dinorah" (Meyerbeer). The perfect ease and control with which she reached high C was remarkable.

Miss Keeler's home is in Burlington, where she was "found" by Mrs. Florence Wood Russell. With the utmost care and pains taken for the preservation of this exceptional voice, Vermont can expect great things from this young singer.

Perhaps the best cellist ever heard in this vicinity was William Windsor Ward. He showed complete mastery with his bow and through all of his difficult numbers he held the closest attention and elicited hearty applause.

Mrs. Russell, instructress of Miss Keeler, and a well known soloist, added a pleasing number to the program. She also acted as accompanist very acceptably. The program was as follows:

"Lullabye Piu Care" (Handel), "Pastorale" (Veracini), Miss Keeler; "Gavotte" (Popper), "Andante" from "Concerto No. 2" (Rombert), Mr. Ward; "Caro Nome" from "Rigoletto" (Verdi), Miss Keeler; "Concerto in A" (Goldmann), Mr. Ward; "Villanelle" (Dell Aquila), "Crepuscule" (Massenet), "Elle a fui," from "Tales of Hoffman" (Offenbach), Miss Keeler; "Happy Days," Mrs. Russell and Mr. Ward; "Sing, Smile, Slumber" (Gounod), "A Spirit Flower" (Campbell-Tipton), "Little Gray Dove" (Sarr), "On India's Strand" (Rimsky-Korsakov), Miss Keeler; "Melodie in F" (Rubinstein), Mr. Ward; "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah" (Meyerbeer), Miss Keeler. Altogether the song recital was a rare musical treat seldom offered to the public in this vicinity. The commendatory criticisms offered the artist of the evening by her many admirers are merited. It is to be hoped that a Barre audience will at some time be given an opportunity of hearing her. A good proportion of the attendance last evening was from Barre.

Notice.

Roof Facts

The difference in efficiency between the steam engine and the stage coach is no greater than that between the very best Roof and the ordinary so-called "Rubber" Roof. It is so easy to accept looks, or toughness, or some other non-essential, that the all-important factor, slowness-to-dry-out, is often given not even a thought.

Of course, slowness-to-dry-out is not an apparent quality. You can't see it. Neither can you learn by any kind, manner or degree of test or analysis whether a Roofing will dry quickly or slowly. Only the test of actual use will tell.

Many people test Roofing by bending or tearing it. Such tests are misleading. Toughness is no proof of good Roofing. In fact, it is usually a sign of insufficient saturation. On the other hand, don't conclude that much saturation is certain proof—it may be nothing but quick-drying oil.

The sure safe plan is to buy well known and responsibly guaranteed Roofing.

Certain-lead Roofing is used in every civilized country and is known by everyone. It is made by the largest manufacturers of Roofing in the world, and they guarantee it in writing—1-ply 5 years, 2-ply 10 years, 3-ply 15 years. The price is less than for other high-grade coverings. Let us quote you.
